

School Resources to Support Military-Connected Students

Social Justice Resources

For Teachers

CLEARINGHOUSE
FOR MILITARY FAMILY READINESS

School Resources to Support Military-Connected Students is a project by the Clearinghouse for Military Family Readiness, an applied research center at The Pennsylvania State University, and is funded by the Department of Defense Education Activity Grant number HE1254-19-0009.

This guide is a culmination of resources aimed for teacher use across age groups and classrooms. Modifications may be necessary to meet children and classrooms where they are at in talking and learning about race. This list is to be used as a first step in race dialogue and education, and we recommend that teachers continue their education after using these resources.

Media

Presentation of material through educational videos, podcasts, books, and movies can help facilitate dialogue through hearing different perspectives.
