School Resources to Support Military-Connected Students

Linking School Personnel with Evidence-Informed Resources to Support Military-Connected Students

schoolresources.militaryfamilies.psu.edu

School Resources to Support Military-Connected Students is a project by the Clearinghouse for Military Family Readiness, an applied research center at The Pennsylvania State University, and is funded by the Department of Defense Education Activity Grant number HE1254-19-0009. Our goal is to provide school personnel with free, evidence-informed resources to support military-connected students.

Learning Modules

The Clearinghouse for Military Family Readiness at Penn State has developed over 100 online learning modules to help school personnel to increase understanding and awareness related to the unique challenges faced by military-connected students and families and to provide school personnel with strategies and resources to support military-connected students. These modules are available at no cost.

Topics Include:

Supporting Military-Connected Students
Provides strategies to support military-connected students and families with their unique challenges.

Suicide Prevention
Provides strategies to prepare for, screen for, identify, and respond to suicidality in students.

Classroom Management
Provides strategies to promote positive student behavior and respond to student misbehavior.

Socioemotional Learning
Provides strategies to integrate SEL into academic content and provide SEL instruction.

Self-Care for School Personnel
Provides personal and professional self-care strategies for school personnel.

Engagement
Provides strategies to engage all students, including exceptional learners, and their families.

Sign up for updates!

Vetted Resources

There are many high quality, free, evidence-informed resources that are available online. The Clearinghouse has identified, vetted, and selected resources to share with school personnel who work with military-connected students on a variety of topics based on utility, applicability, reputability of the developer, and level of evidence.

Current Events

School personnel who work with military-connected students are facing new challenges as a result of recent events. The Clearinghouse has created resources to help school personnel support military-connected students with these new challenges.

Student Programs

In some cases, students may need additional programming to have their needs met. The Clearinghouse has created new programs that school personnel can deliver to students in order to provide additional support at no cost.

Toolkit

A toolkit has been created to help school personnel support military-connected students. The toolkit includes resources to use within the school setting or to share with families.

Blog

Student needs can shift many times during the school year. Our blog is updated regularly to highlight resources that can help school personnel meet the constantly evolving needs of their students.

---

Additional Services

The Clearinghouse provides additional services and resources that may be of interest to school-based professionals who serve military-connected children and their families.

Technical Assistance

The Clearinghouse Technical Assistance (TA) specialists are available to support you with program selection, implementation, or evaluation in your work with military families.

Program Search

The Clearinghouse has reviewed over 1,300 programs to determine the potential benefit to military families and placed them on the Continuum Evidence.

Program Implementation Toolkit

The Clearinghouse has created free, evidence-informed, easy-to-use resources to assist you through the program selection, implementation, and evaluation processes.

---

School Resources to Support Military-Connected Students

schoolresources.militaryfamilies.psu.edu